

RSA Scholarship Manual

Dear Prospective RSA Scholar:

You are about to make an important decision regarding your future career. I encourage you to consider the position of a vocational rehabilitation counselor within the profession of rehabilitation counseling. I also encourage you to apply to become an RSA Scholar, and to acquire the financial benefits associated with it.

Participation in the RSA Scholarship program offers wide opportunities for you. In addition to the financial benefits, you have the satisfaction of knowing that your work will contribute to our society. An RSA scholarship prepares you to work within the State-Federal system of vocational rehabilitation, a system with a long and proud history of over 100 years of serving people with disabilities. Ultimately, of course, scholars enrich the lives of people with disabilities through providing quality rehabilitation services that help them secure employment and participate fully in society.

There is an acute need for qualified personnel in rehabilitation counseling. Specifically, state vocational rehabilitation agencies, and the programs with which the state rehabilitation agencies make agreements to provide vocational and supported employment, have critical personnel needs. To ensure that the RSA training program helps state agencies in filling these jobs, Congress added to the Rehabilitation Act a "payback" provision for RSA scholars. This manual explains the payback requirements, in addition to the other requirements for the scholarship. Please read it carefully to understand your responsibilities.

RSA SCHOLAR! I hope that you will accept that designation proudly and consider it a privilege and an honor to serve in this exciting position within the rehabilitation counseling profession.

Sincerely,

Elizabeth A. Boland, Ph.D., CRC
Professor and Academic Program Director

RSA SCHOLARSHIP GUIDELINES AND APPLICATION

MA in Rehabilitation Counseling Program

RSA SCHOLARSHIP GUIDELINES AND APPLICATION

The Rehabilitation Services Administration (RSA) is committed to increasing the supply of trained rehabilitation counselors available for employment in public and related rehabilitation agencies and institutions involved in the vocational rehabilitation of individuals with disabilities. Therefore, RSA provides a limited number of scholarships to individuals seeking a Rehabilitation Counseling master's degree at selected universities, including Western Washington University.

At a minimum, the Rehabilitation Counseling Academic Program Director reviews scholarship applications annually to determine which students will receive a scholarship. Scholars must reapply each year they wish to be funded. In selecting recipients, the priorities of the Rehabilitation Counseling Program adhere to federal guidelines and additional priorities, which are indicated on the scholarship application form.

The Rehabilitation Counseling program, in keeping with the RSA personnel development intentions of the scholarship program, considers attendance in the program on a continuous basis as a high priority. This is partially because federal support is provided on a continuous, 12-month basis. In addition to all other criteria for awarding scholarships, students who demonstrate a commitment to consecutive terms of study are likely to receive higher consideration than those who do not. Individual, special, or extenuating circumstances are reviewed in each student's application. Nonetheless, a desire to complete the program in a timely and expeditious manner is considered important and relevant.

A student's commitment to the rehabilitation counseling profession and the job as a vocational rehabilitation counselor is vital. To maintain accreditation, and to obtain federal support for RSA scholarships, the Rehabilitation Counseling program must maintain an accurate list of students and graduates, which includes their places of employment. Therefore, all students, and particularly those who receive RSA scholarships, must agree to maintain contact with the Rehabilitation Counseling program after graduation or after cessation of enrollment in courses.

An agreement must be executed between the grantee and scholar for each subsequent year that scholarship funds are disbursed and must contain the terms and conditions required by this section.

(2) Upon receipt of this information from the grantee, the scholar must provide written and signed certification to the grantee that the information is correct.

(g) Tracking system. The grantee has established policies and procedures to determine compliance of the scholar with the terms of the signed payback agreement. In order to determine whether a scholar has met the terms and conditions set forth in § 386.40, the tracking system must include for each employment position maintained by the scholar—

- (1) Documentation of the employer's name, address, dates of the scholar's employment, name of supervisor, position title, a description of the duties the scholar performed, and whether the employment is full- or part-time;

- (d) If a scholar fails to provide the information in paragraph (a)(10) of this section or otherwise maintain contact with the grantee pursuant to the terms of the signed payback agreement and enters into repayment status pursuant to § 386.43, the scholar will be held responsible for any costs assessed in the collection process under that section even if that information is subsequently provided.

34 CFR 386.41 Under what circumstances does the Secretary grant a deferral or exception to performance or repayment under a scholarship agreement?

Based upon sufficient evidence to substantiate the grounds as detailed in § 386.42, a repayment exception to or deferral of the requirements of § 386.40(a)(7) may be granted, in whole or in part, by the Secretary as follows:

- (c) Under limited circumstances as determined by the Secretary and based upon credible evidence submitted on behalf of the scholar, the Secretary may grant an exception to, or deferral of, the requirement to repay a scholarship in instances not specified in this section. These instances could include, but are not limited to, the care of a disabled spouse, partner, or child or the need to accompany a spouse or partner on active duty in the Armed Forces.

34 CFR 386.42 What must a scholar do to obtain a deferral or exception to performance or repayment under a scholarship agreement?

To obtain an exception or a deferral to performance or repayment under a scholarship agreement under § 386.41, a scholar must provide the following:

- (a) Amount. The amount of the scholarship to be repaid is proportional to the employment obligation not completed.
- (b) Interest rate. The Secretary charges the scholar interest on the unpaid balance owed in accordance with 31 U.S.C. 3717.
- (c) Interest accrual.
 - (1) Interest on the unpaid balance accrues from the date the scholar is determined to have entered repayment status under paragraph (e) of this section.

 - (3) No interest is charged for the period of time during which repayment has been deferred under § 386.41.
- (d) Collection costs. Under the authority of 31 U.S.C. 3717, the Secretary may impose reasonable collection costs.

- (f) Amounts and frequency of payment. The scholar shall make payments to the Secretary that cover principal, interest, and collection costs according to a schedule established by the Secretary.

Additional RSA Requirements

The current RSA Long-Term Training Scholarships require that a scholar completes an internship at a designated State rehabilitation agency as a rehabilitation counselor or related professional. The designated state agencies in Washington State are the Washington Division of Vocational Rehabilitation (DVR) and the Washington Department of Services for the Blind (DSB). The WWU MA in Rehabilitation Counseling Program has defined an internship as a minimum of 300 hours (can be completed during one quarter or over multiple quarters) at DVR or DSB.

Additional WWU Requirements

In addition to the requirements established by the RSA, the following guidelines have been established at Western Washington University.

1. Scholarship candidates should be fully admitted to graduate status to work toward the Master of Arts degree in Rehabilitation Counseling. To be considered for continuation of an RSA scholarship after the first year of funding, the student must complete and submit a new application for each subsequent year of funding.
2. Scholarship recipients must maintain at least a 3.0 GPA each quarter.
3. Any Incomplete (K) grades are evaluated on an individual basis.
4. Once the candidate is awarded an RSA scholarship, and based on the availability of federal funds, the scholarship will continue to be awarded each successive quarter, including summer, of that academic year provided that the student maintains satisfactory progress in the MA in RC program.
5. Scholarship funds will not be used to pay for courses that must be repeated due to low grades or dropping a class after the deadline for refunds.
6. Scholarship funds will not be used to pay for late fees or graduation fees.
7. Scholarship awards will be made for the Fall quarter of the academic year (or the previous Summer if funds are available) and continue through the following Summer quarter. If any additional federal funds become available during the year, applicants may be considered for funding beginning later in the year. Applications for mid-year funding must be received by the Rehabilitation Counseling Academic Program Director one month prior to the start of the quarter for which the student is requesting funding.
8. Scholarship candidates should be aware that Western's Financial Aid Office requires that we provide them with information about any funds (tuition or stipend) that you are awarded from the RSA Scholarship. Therefore, the funds you receive from the RSA Scholarship will likely impact your Financial Aid. If you receive Financial Aid and would like to know how receiving this Scholarship would impact your aid, contact Western's Financial Aid Office (360-650-3470 or financialaid@wwu.edu).

From the Rehabilitation Long-Term Training Program: Scholarship Manual
(written by the Rehabilitation Services Administration, updated 12/28/16)

1. At what point in the scholarship award process must the scholar sign the payback agreement?

An IHE receiving a RLTT grant from RSA must ensure that any student receiving scholarship assistance from the grant signs and dates a "payback" agreement prior to the initial disbursement of any scholarship funds on his/her behalf, including the payment or crediting of tuition. The IHE must fully disclose to the RSA scholar the terms and conditions of the payback requirement in the application for an RSA scholarship. The written agreement must contain the terms and conditions required by the regulations (34 CFR 386.40).

2. What financial assistance is included in the payback requirement?

The payback requirement applies to all RSA financial assistance to a scholar pursuing a RLTT program leading to a certificate or degree. Regardless of the amount of the financial assistance, the scholar must pay back each year of assistance with two years of service. The financial assistance covers payments for tuition and fees, stipends, books and supplies, and travel in conjunction with training assignments (34 CFR 386.32). The amount of scholarship made to scholars will vary depending on the amount of the grant awarded to the IHE and the cost of attendance at the IHE. Grantees are required to spend 65% of the grant award on scholarships.

3. How is an academic year defined for purposes of the payback requirement?

An academic year means a full-time course of study: (1) taken for a period totaling at least 9 months; or (2) taken for the equivalent of at least 2 semesters, 2 trimesters, or 3 quarters. If a scholar attends school from September to June, this equates to one academic year and two full years for the payback obligation. (34 CFR 386.4(b); 386.40(a) (7); 386.40(c))

4. How is the employment obligation of a part-time scholar determined?

The employment obligation for a part-time scholar is based upon the equivalent total of actual academic years of training received (34 CFR 386.40(c)). For instance, for every year a half-time scholar receives assistance, that scholar would have to repay one year of service.

5. What is the relationship between the amount of time that a student receives a scholarship and the length of time that he/she must maintain employment to meet payback requirements? Also, how much time is the student given to meet the payback requirements?

In accordance with 34 CFR 386.40(a) (7) and (8), the student must satisfy the following employment obligation:

- (a) The student must work in a State VR agency or a related agency, including a professional practice group, where the agency has a service arrangement with the State VR agency;
- (b) The student must maintain employment in the field of study in which training was received or where the field of study is directly relevant to the job functions performed;
- (c) The length of the employment obligation is the full-time equivalent of 2 years for each year of scholarship assistance provided;
- (d) The period of time that the student has in order to satisfy the employment obligation begins immediately upon the completion of the training and lasts for the duration of the employment obligation plus a grace period of two more years.

6. When a full-time scholar receives partial funding, what are the payback requirements?

The amount of financial assistance disbursed to a full-time scholar, whether partial or full, does not affect the obligation of the scholar to meet an employment commitment. The scholar must repay every year of financial assistance with two years of service (34 CFR 386.40(a) (7)).

7. What happens when the scholar receives support from more than one RLTT grant?

Scholars who may have received scholarship assistance from more than one RLTT grant have a separate payback requirement for each grant. These scholars are encouraged to work closely with the respective Project Director or designee at the sponsoring agency and/or RSA Project Officer in accurately recording the payback obligation. Any service obligation completed by a scholar must first be applied to the older grant.

8. If a scholar is dismissed or drops out of a program for academic or non-academic reasons, to what degree will he/she be responsible for payback?

The scholar is responsible for repayment of the costs received whether he/she is dismissed or voluntarily leaves the program for academic or non-academic reasons. The scholar is in a repayment status on the first day of the next month after leaving the program. If the program is less than one year, and the scholar drops out prior to completing the program, the scholar must repay the assistance through financial repayment. If the program is more than one year in length and the scholar drop out after completing at least one year, the scholar may pay back the obligation through service or through financial repayment. (34 CFR 386.40(b) (1)).

9. Must scholars work on a full-time basis in a qualifying agency?

No. A scholar may work on a full- or part-time basis for either the State VR agency or a related agency. If a scholar works part-time, he/she still has an obligation to work the full-time equivalent of two years for each year for which assistance was provided within a period of not more than the sum of the number of years owed and two additional years. Therefore, depending on the length of the service obligation, it may not be possible for a scholar to meet all of his/her service obligation while working part-time. (34 CFR 386.40(a) (7))

10. What is meant by qualifying employment?

State-Federal programs of VR, supported employment, and independent living are the programs intended to benefit from the payback provision. The employment obligation may also be met by obtaining and maintaining employment in a related agency providing services under a formal or informal agreement with the State VR agency. (34 CFR 386.40(g))

11. What is meant by a "related agency?"

Congress also recognized that State VR agencies often accomplish their mission through formal or informal agreements with other programs. Thus, the employment obligation may be met by obtaining and maintaining employment in the field in which the scholar was trained in a related agency providing services under an agreement with a State VR agency. A related agency may include a Federal or State agency, a nonprofit organization, or a for-profit professional corporation or professional practice group, so long as there is an informal or formal agreement with the State VR agency. (34 CFR 386.4)

12. What is considered acceptable qualifying employment for scholars who successfully complete a doctoral program?

Scholars may complete a doctoral program in one of two ways: 1) as an RSA scholar through the 84.129 RLTT program, or 2) through a doctoral program not funded by RSA but following completion of an undergraduate or Master's Program funded by RSA and for which the payback has been deferred.

In terms of acceptable qualifying employment, qualifying employment in a "related agency" may include educators whose college or university employer meets the definition of a related agency by providing services to individuals with disabilities under an agreement with a State VR agency and who are employed in the area of specialty for which Federal support for their training was provided. Examples of suitable work activities at an IHE may include but are not limited to the following tasks: 1) supervising students in training; 2) serving as an advisor or consultant to a State agency; 3) providing direct services to students, including the instruction of individuals with disabilities; 4) conducting research in the VR field as a Post-Doctoral Fellow or Research Assistant, provided that the activity is in the area of specialty for which training was provided.

Scholars who are hired full or part-time at an IHE only for the purposes of working to obtain grant funds or in conducting administrative activities do not meet the requirement for acceptable qualifying employment.

13. Does volunteer work count towards the payback requirement?

No. Volunteer work does not count towards the payback work requirement.

14. Does Graduate Assistant work count towards the payback requirement?

No. A scholar performing the duties of a Graduate Assistant cannot use this experience towards the payback work requirement.

15. Must scholars serve State VR clients exclusively in full- or part-time employment in a related agency?

If a scholar works for a related agency, he/she is not required to serve only rehabilitation clients of the State-Federal programs of VR, supported employment, or independent living in his/her job. Rather, the requirement can be met if he/she is employed on a full- or part-time basis by the qualifying organization, and the work is as a consultant or practitioner serving rehabilitation clients under an agreement with a State VR agency. (34 CFR 386.4; 34 CFR 386.40)

16. If a scholar engages in employment for a State VR agency or related agency while in training, will that count toward payback?

No. Rehabilitation employment while in training for which the scholarship was awarded does not meet the work requirement. The regulations clearly state that the scholar will maintain employment in a qualifying agency "beginning after the recipient completes the training for which the scholarship was awarded." (34 CFR 386.40).

17. Does RSA specify the geographical location in which the work requirement must be satisfied?

Regulations implementing the payback requirement do not specify the geographical location in which the work requirement must be satisfied. An RSA scholar may select where he/she wishes to seek and maintain employment, provided that within the required period of time following the completion of his or her training, the employment obligation is fulfilled with a State VR agency or related agency. (34 CFR 386.40). RSA scholars should be aware that in light of recent economic conditions, it is not uncommon for scholars to relocate in order to secure qualifying employment.

18. What is the "exit certification" that the grantee must provide in writing when a scholar completes his/her program?

According to 34 CFR 386.34(f), the granting institution is required to maintain the following information on file for each scholarship:

- (a) The scholar's name and the number of the federal grant that provided the scholarship;
- (b) The scholar's field of study and the obligation of the scholar to perform the service obligation with employment that meets the requirements in 34 CFR 386.40(a)(7)(i);
- (c) The total amount of scholarship assistance received subject to 34 CFR 386.40(a)(7);
- (d) The number of years the scholar needs to work to satisfy the work requirements in 34 CFR 386.40(a) (7).
- (e) The time period during which the scholar must satisfy the work requirements in 34 CFR 386.40(a) (7).
- (f) As applicable, all other obligations of the scholar in 34 CFR 386.40, such as the need to inform the IHE of any change of name, address, employment status, and information documenting how he/she has satisfied the terms of his/her scholarship agreement.

The exit certification must include written verification from the scholar acknowledging that the information in his/her file is accurate and that he/she is aware of his/her work-or-repay obligation.

19. Under what circumstances may a scholar receive an exception (i.e., waiver) to the payback requirements?

Before disbursement of a scholarship, grantees are required not only to verify proof of U.S. citizenship or legal permanent resident status, but they must also obtain documentation that the individual has an expressed interest in a career in the provision of rehabilitation services and that the individual expects to and appears able to seek and maintain employment in an approved agency following completion of his/her program of study. (34 CFR 386.33)

Scholars may request a waiver of repayment if they are unable to continue their course of study or complete their employment due to a permanent disability. (34 CFR 386.41(a)) To formally request a waiver of repayment for permanent disability, the scholar should submit a written request along with supporting medical documentation to the assigned RSA Program Officer. The medical documentation must be current (within the past three months), prepared on official stationery, signed by a qualified physician or other medical professional, and contain the scholar's diagnosis, prognosis, and ability to work in any capacity in the field of rehabilitation. The documentation must include a statement that a reasonable work accommodation cannot be made to complete the employment obligation -- such as part-time work, teleworking, or utilizing assistive technology to support the necessary job functions. The submission of Social Security documentation or other disability determinations solely is insufficient and will result in denial of the request. The Project Director or designee and scholar should work closely together in transmitting the waiver request to RSA for review and consideration. All requests should be addressed to the attention of the RSA Commissioner, but transmitted to the assigned RSA Program Officer.

A disability in and of itself is not sufficient to serve as the basis of the waiver. An individual's disability must have worsened since entry into the program of study or the individual must have acquired additional disabilities in order for a waiver to be granted.

A waiver of repayment is also available in cases where a scholar has died. Documentation to substantiate this waiver must include a death certificate or other evidence conclusive under State law.

20. Under what circumstances may repayment of a scholarship be deferred?

Repayment of a scholarship may be deferred during the time the scholar is:

- (a) engaging in a full-time course of study in the field of rehabilitation at an IHE;
- (b) serving, not in excess of four years, on active duty as a member of the armed services of the United States;
- (c) serving as a volunteer under the Peace Corps Act;
- (d) serving as a full-time volunteer under Title I of the Domestic Volunteer Service Act of 1973; or
- (e) temporarily totally disabled, for a period not to exceed three years. (386.41(b))

Scholars wishing to make a request for deferment should submit the completed Deferral request form to the assigned RSA Program Officer along with the appropriate supporting documentation to include the PR/Award number that provided the scholarship funds and the signed payback agreement form. If the basis for requesting a deferral is due to full-time enrollment in a course of study, the scholar must include official proof of enrollment, i.e., documentation from the Office of the Registrar, along with the scholar's expected date of graduation or program completion.

If the basis of the deferral is for any other circumstance, the appropriate documentation must be submitted to support the request. Medical documentation must be within the past three months. Deferrals are not automatic; rather they must be officially approved by RSA.

Under limited circumstances as determined by RSA and based upon credible evidence submitted on behalf of the scholar, an exception to, or deferral of, the requirement to repay a scholarship may be granted in instances not specified in 386.41(a) and 386.41(b). These instances could include, but are not limited to, the care of a disabled spouse, partner, or child or the need to accompany a spouse or partner on active duty in the Armed Forces. (386.41(c))

21. What information in addition to this manual will help an RSA scholar and the granting institution to understand their responsibilities in complying with the payback requirements?

Scholars and IHEs must become familiar with the final regulations at 34 CFR Part 386, published in the FEDERAL REGISTER on August 19, 2016 (81 FR 55619). As a condition of receiving this grant, scholars and IHEs are required to comply with the rules. The regulations spell out the payback provisions and the scholar's requirements to comply with them. IHEs should also identify additional rehabilitation information, such as names and addresses of qualifying employers, for use in assisting scholars.

Sample Exit Certificate

On the next page is an example of an Exit Certificate Form, which will be provided to you when you graduate or otherwise leave the program. It is provided here to further clarify the conditions under which RSA Scholarship Funds are awarded.

REHABILITATION SERVICES ADMINISTRATION (RSA) SCHOLAR EXIT CERTIFICATION FORM

Instructions for Grantees/RSA Scholars: Completion of an exit certification form is required regardless of whether the scholar graduates earning a degree, certificate of completion, completes all coursework to include specific program requirements, i.e., (internship/practicum), or voluntarily/involuntarily withdraws. An exit certificate must be accurately completed, signed, and dated by the RSA (Long-Term Training) scholar and RSA Project Director or other appropriate grantee official, as the scholar exits the training program. The RSA Project Director is responsible for uploading the completed exit certificate in the RSA Payback Information System (PIMS).
