This program is designed for those who have completed a bachelor’s degree and wish to earn Washington residency certification to teach in middle and/or high schools.

The Woodring College of Education vision is to “foster community relationships and a culture of learning that advance knowledge, honors diversities, and promote social justice.” Aligning with this vision, see Secondary Education’s Guiding Principles (see page 6). We have a long-standing commitment to prepare teachers who are highly capable, effective educators for the learning and well-being of all students.

We have designed our admissions process with these values in mind, to give applicants an opportunity to share the strengths that they will bring to the Secondary Education program. We invite you to tell us who you are as a person and the commitments you will bring to teaching that connects explicitly to the commitments of our College.

Admission decisions are made from the review of all application materials, academic preparation, the scope of experience with adolescents, evidence in recognizing and valuing diversity and inclusiveness, and observation of interactions/communication during the on-campus interview.

Essay Prompts

We believe that effective teachers must possess the knowledge, skills and dispositions to successfully facilitate learning for students of diverse backgrounds and abilities. The essays are intended to reveal aspects about you as a person- including the knowledge, abilities and the personal experiences that you will bring into the complex demands of teaching.

The essays will be reviewed based on the following criteria: academic preparation, experience with youth, experience working with diverse populations, a commitment to social justice, and writing proficiency. Each essay should address the prompt, include your name, title of essay, and be 1-2 pages, 12pt, double-spaced.

Essay 1

Tell us why you wish to pursue a career in teaching. How do your experiences and disposition prepare you to be successful in the Secondary Education program?

Essay 2

(Note- an update to this prompt is anticipated late August 2018)

How might an educator’s unacknowledged biases or taken-for-granted assumptions affect their ability to create a safe, inclusive, and culturally responsive learning environment?

Essay 3

Describe your experiences with youth and families in diverse socio-economic, cultural and linguistic settings. Comment on any experiences with academic courses that have provided you knowledge of multicultural and social justice issues and challenges. How does this knowledge and experiences prepare you to be an effective teacher?
Guiding Principles

What we do:
- Prepare teachers who are committed to a just, sustainable future for all generations
- Prepare teachers who are able to engage in systems thinking
- Provide tools and experiences to develop teachers who are change agents who can understand and work within existing structures to transform systems
- Hold and nurture space for the development of communities of learners
- Foster creativity and mindfulness
- Engage in respectful community dialog given a variety of viewpoints and perspectives
- Create contexts in which everyone can express their experiences with confidence, knowing they will be heard with sensitivity

We believe:
- Teaching and learning are collaborative and are built on critical inquiry processes
- Learning is a reciprocal, on-going process, requiring openness to new ideas
- Effective democratic teachers build on the valuable knowledge and assets students bring to the learning process
- In honoring and supporting the young people of our communities, enabling them to fulfill their essential role in creating sustainable societies.
- In recognizing that all beings are interdependent and every form of life has value regardless of its worth to human beings.
- In promoting social and economic justice, enabling all to achieve a secure and meaningful livelihood that is ecologically responsible

We center social justice with the assertions that:
- Systems of power and privilege give rise to inequities in society
- Justice requires a critical analysis of social, cultural and institutional systems and how they contribute to inequity
- Critical self-reflection helps us understand the beliefs and positions we hold, our world view, and where those perspectives come from
- Staying open to other points of view, and understanding and valuing the lived experiences of others is a central requisite of working toward a more just society

We promote the development of critical inquiry by:
- Helping teacher candidates develop curiosity and the need to know
- Building powers of deep observation, listening, and interpretation
- Engaging school and community members in action research
- Using critical inquiry as a pedagogical tool
- Conducting inquiry at all levels – personal, classroom, systems

Candidates who thrive in our program possess and continue developing abilities to:
- Display curiosity and open-mindedness toward the life experiences and perspectives of others
- Listen to and observe student thinking
- Demonstrate intercultural understanding
- Employ critical consciousness
- Engage with and appreciate ambiguity
- Acknowledge and adapt to the tensions of critical communities and democratic processes
- Have an assets-based approach to students and to one another as colleagues
- Be flexible and ready to adapt when needed

(March 27, 2017 version)
Students accepted into teacher certification programs at Western Washington University will have opportunities to work in public or private schools with students, teachers, administrators and parents. Our students are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner in all interactions with all individuals. As a means of emphasizing the importance of appropriate behavior, the following policies apply to Woodring College teacher education students.

Secondary Education applicants and admitted students may be denied admission, withdrawn from a course or practicum/field experience, the student teaching internship, or the certification program for any of the following reasons:

A. a guilty plea or conviction of any felony crime involving the physical neglect of or physical injury to a child;
B. the commission of a crime against the laws of the State of Washington;
C. exhibiting unprofessional or unethical conduct or behavior;
D. failure to maintain a 2.75 quarterly GPA.

I understand that information concerning admitted students may be shared with school district personnel to determine if a field placement may and should be made, or if a placement should continue; and, that the Woodring College of Education cannot override the decision of school district personnel. Practicum and Internship placements are dependent on school district approval.

I understand that final admission will be based on Washington State Patrol and FBI fingerprint and Pre-Residency Character and Fitness Questionnaire clearance, and completion of required Woodring Teacher Education New Student Orientation.

I also understand that acceptance into the program and completion of the program does not guarantee the granting of a Washington State Residency Teaching Certificate.

For additional information about the review process, contact the Department of Secondary Education at 360-650-3327. Each application is reviewed using the following process:

• All applicants who meet the minimum requirements and submit a completed application will have that application reviewed by the Secondary Education faculty after the due date.

• Enrollment restrictions apply for each quarter. Applications are evaluated to determine the most qualified applicant. Each application is reviewed by a faculty admission review team.

I agree to abide by the above policies and certify, to the best of my knowledge, that all statements contained in this application are true and accurate.
