Overview

The Woodring College vision charges faculty and staff with fostering community relationships and a culture of learning that advance knowledge, honor diversities, and promote social justice. This statement establishes the educational values that guide the College.

We Believe:

- All people can live, learn, play and work together in inclusive communities,
- All persons have inherent value and make valuable contributions,
- In multiple forms of diversity and ways of expression that include but are not limited to the following: race, ethnicity, abilities, sexual orientation, language, religion/non-religion, culture or country of origin.

If you are interested in a professional program focused upon effective teaching, intervention and collaboration that will prepare you to work with children, families and other professionals, then we invite you to apply to our program.

Writing Prompts

Please respond to each of the following prompts. Each response should be 500 – 1000 words in length. Please word process and use size 12 font and Times New Roman typeface. Submit your responses with your application.

Prompt 1:
What do you think it takes to be an effective teacher, given the diverse and complex nature of today’s classrooms? Please list and describe five specific teacher characteristics. Of these listed characteristics, which two do you consider personal strengths and which two remain areas for further growth.

Prompt 2:
Respond to the following scenario: It is your first quarter as a student in Woodring College of Education, and you are taking a course in which a school-based practicum or school-based service learning is required. As you enter your placement, which is in an elementary school classroom, you are paired with a student whose primary language differs from your own. What strategies might you use to engage this student?

Prompt 3:
How might an educator’s unacknowledged bias, cultural background, or taken-for-granted assumptions affect their ability to create a safe, inclusive, and culturally responsive learning environment?

Student Conduct Agreement and Requirement

Students accepted into teacher certification programs at Western Washington University will have opportunities to work in public or private schools with students, teachers, administrators and parents. Our students are expected to conduct themselves in a professional manner in all interactions with all individuals. As a means of emphasizing the importance of appropriate behavior, the following policies apply to all Woodring College Special Education students.

Special Education applicants and admitted students may be denied admission, withdrawn from a course or practicum/field experience, the student teaching internship, or the certification program for any of the following reasons:

A. a guilty plea or conviction of any felony crime involving the physical neglect of or physical injury to a child;
B. the commission of a crime against the laws of the State of Washington;
C. exhibiting unprofessional or unethical conduct or behavior;
D. failure to maintain a 2.75 quarterly GPA.

I understand that information concerning admitted students may be shared with school district personnel to determine if a field placement may and should be made, or if a placement should continue; and that the Woodring College of Education cannot override the decision of school district personnel. Practicum and Internship placements are dependent on school district approval.

I understand that final admission will be based on Washington State Patrol and FBI fingerprint and Pre-Residency Character and Fitness Questionnaire clearance, and completion of required Woodring Teacher Education New Student Orientation.

I also understand that acceptance into the program and completion of the program does not guarantee the granting of a Washington State Residency Teaching Certificate.
Each application is reviewed using the following process:

All applicants who meet the minimum requirements and submit a completed application will have that application reviewed by the Special Education faculty after the due date.

Enrollment restrictions apply for each quarter. Applications are evaluated to determine the most qualified applicant. Each application is reviewed by a faculty admission review team.

For additional information about the review process, contact the Department of Special Education & Education Leadership at 360.650.3330.

I agree to abide by the above policies and certify, to the best of my knowledge, that all statements contained in this application are true and accurate.
